Application for Honors Research/Study Abroad Fund

Purpose: Honors students may apply individually or in groups for funding to support activities that enhance their undergraduate education. Only Honors students (or groups comprised entirely of Honors students) are eligible to apply.

Examples of learning opportunities that would be eligible for Honors Research Funding:

- Research, scholarship, and artistic activities or materials
- International service opportunities
- Participation in academic conferences
- Study abroad, particularly that with a research focus
- Matching funds for URCO or other academic grants

Examples of requests that are NOT eligible for Honors Research Funding:

- Equipment purchases (such as iPods, digital cameras, etc.)
- Trips of a personal nature
- Tuition for courses

Criteria: Students must be enrolled at Utah State University with good standing in the University Honors Program. Honors encourages students to seek funding from multiple sources and favors applications that do so.

First time applicants will receive priority.

Applications will be accepted on a rolling basis throughout the academic year. The application form (below) must be completed fully. Applications will be evaluated only once students have submitted a completed application form, a one-page budget description, and a letter of support from a faculty member.

Students selected to receive an Honors Research /Study Abroad Award must submit a 1-2 page final report to the Honors Program within one month of using their funding. The report should describe and explain the benefits of the experience for which the student received the award.

Award amounts vary, but may range from $50 to $500 from the Honors Research Fund. Students may request a Research Award even if the total amount of the event or experience exceeds $500, and students studying abroad may request up to $500 from each fund, for a total of $1000.

Information that may help you secure matching funding:

The USUSA Academic Opportunity Fund supports student participation in professional conferences. A form is available on the Undergraduate Research website. The Undergraduate Research and Creative Opportunities (URCO) grant features two competitions during the academic year: October 15 and February 15. Information is available at <http://research.usu.edu/undergrad>. See Funding Opportunities. Some departments or colleges may also match funding from the University Honors Program.

NOTE: Students who complete a minimum of two semesters of research, disseminate the results, and have the approval of a faculty mentor may apply for an Undergraduate Research Scholar transcript designation. The application is also on the Undergraduate Research website.

Will this award be used as matching funds for another award that you have already received? If so, please list that award here:

List other funding for which you have applied, including departmental, URCO, or USUSA funds:

If you have not applied for other funding, why not?

Please TYPE and attach the following:

- A 200-word description of what you will do with the requested funding, where and when you will do it, and why this funding would benefit you academically..
- A detailed one-page budget

In addition, you must secure the approval of your research fund proposal from your thesis/capstone faculty mentor (if you are submitting this application with an Honors Thesis/Capstone Proposal form, the faculty mentor may approve on the proposal and need not sign again here):
